HAWAI`I SPEECH LEAGUE

Interschool activities enrich curricular and co-curricular activities and develop educational growth in forensic skills. Participation by membership shall be completely voluntary.

Scope and Purpose of the Hawai`i Speech League

The Hawai`i Speech League was organized to promote and encourage excellence in speech by sponsoring a diversified program of speech activities for intermediate and high school students. It is an organization composed of public and private schools. The Hawai`i Speech League (HSL) has grown from eight schools in 1959 – 1960, to its current membership.

The Hawai`i Speech League has six districts: District I – East Honolulu; District II – West Honolulu; District III – Suburban O`ahu; District IV – Hawai`i County; District V – Kaua`i County; and District VI – Maui County.

Each school year, over 1,000 students participate in HSL sponsored tournaments throughout the state. These events include categories such as: Storytelling, Program Reading, Humorous, Dramatic, and Duo Interpretation, Original Oratory, Impromptu Speaking, Extemporaneous Speaking, Policy Debate, Lincoln-Douglas Debate, and other events. Members of the community judge and evaluate these events. The evaluations are vital to student growth.

Other organizations with which the Hawai`i Speech League works in cooperation are the National Forensic League, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Federation of State High School Associations, and the speech/drama departments of the state's colleges and universities. The League welcomes the opportunity to explore the possibilities of cooperating with any organization.

In the past, eligible state winners have attended the National Forensic League Tournaments held in various major cities throughout the United States. Although the HSL does not assume the financial responsibility of sending participants to the national tournament, it does verify the students as eligible winners.

To help defray the expenses of newsletters and correspondence, handbooks, educational materials, tournaments (paid in part by student entry fees), the Hawai`i Speech League assesses dues from each member school. (Amended: September, 1999)

As a voluntary association of schools, the Hawai`i Speech League cooperates with both public and private intermediate and high schools. The agency with which it cooperates in regard to public schools is the Community Sponsored Activities Board of the State of Hawai`i Department of Education, which endorses the League's statewide forensic and drama programs.

This handbook has been compiled to assist teachers of forensics in the growth and development of the forensic programs in their respective schools.

XXII. Determination of Winner

A. Speech Events: Cumulative scores will be used for all speech events in state qualifying tournaments. In the event of a tie, the following procedure shall be used:

Step #1: The student with the lowest cumulative score in the Final Round shall be declared the winner.

Step #2: If a tie still exists, convert judges' ranks in the Final Round into reciprocal fractions: 1st = 1.00; 2nd = .50; 3rd = .33; 4th = .25; 5th = .20; 6th = .16; 7th = .14. The highest reciprocal score wins.

Example:

Student A - 1 - 3 - 2 - 2 - 2 = 10 = 2.83

Student B - 2 - 2 - 1 - 4 - 1 = 10 = 3.25*

Thus Student B is the winner.*

Step #3: If a tie still exists, it shall be broken in favor of the contestant preferred by the majority of judges in the Final Round.

Example:

Student A 1* 3 2 2* 2

Student B 2 2* 1* 4 1* *Indicates judges' preference

Thus Student B is the winner as s/he is preferred by three out of the five judges. (Amended: September, 2001)*

B. Policy Debate: In Policy debate the following steps shall be followed:

1. Total judges' decisions.
2. Win-Split-Loss Record for round - Greater number of winning decisions, then split decisions, wins in tie breaking.
3. Speaker rankings - Lower total wins in tie breaking.
4. Team ratings - Higher total wins in tie breaking. (Amended: April, 1986; September, 2001; December, 2002; December, 2006)

C. Lincoln-Douglas Debate: In Lincoln-Douglas debate the following steps shall be followed:

1. Total judges' decisions.
2. Win-Split-Loss Record for round - Greater number of winning decisions, then split decisions, wins in tie breaking.
3. Speaker rankings - Higher total wins in tie breaking. (Amended: September, 2001; December, 2002; December, 2006)

D. Public Forum Debate: In Public Forum debate, the following steps shall be followed:

1. Total judges' decisions.
2. Win-Split-Loss Record for round - Greater number of winning decisions, then split decisions, wins in tie breaking.
3. Team rankings – Higher total wins in tie breaking. (Amended: December, 2002; September, 2003; December, 2006; December, 2008)

Speech Qualifying Tournaments and the State Forensic Championship

(Amended: December, 2008)

1. The person in charge will designate several teams comprised of at least two tabulators assigned to specific event(s). At least one of the tabulators should be experienced in tabulating speech tournaments.
2. Type competitors' names and school names on the tab sheets.
3. Check ballots or summary ballot for RANKING. Be sure that the ranking differs for each contestant (only one 1st place, one 2nd place, etc.)
4. Re-rank the lowest speakers to numerically match the lowest ranking in the room with the fewest number of entrants in an event.
For example, all contestants in an event ranked 4 or lower will receive a 4 if a room with the fewest number of participants is 4.

	Room 1	Room 2	Room 3	Scores for:
Ranking	Y2 3	Y10 1	Y11 3	Y3 and Y5 will be re-ranked to 4 as the lowest score.
By	Y7 1	Y3 5*	Y1 4
Speaker	Y13 4	Y9 2	Y5 5*
	Y14 2	Y6 4	Y8 2
		Y12 3	Y4 1	(Amended: September, 2001)

5. Check ballots for RATING (superior, excellent, good or fair). Although ratings are not tabulated for Speech Qualifying Tournaments, checking the ballots for ratings will allow tabulators to double-check that rankings are consistent with the ratings.
6. Read from SUMMARY BALLOTS to tabulation partner, who shall enter rankings for each contestant into a computerized tabulation sheet.
7. Switch with tabulation partner to double-check entry of results into the computerized tabulation sheet.
8. Copy ranking from summary ballot to contestant's ballot. Collate the ballots by contestant code number, and then write each contestant's school code on the first ballot.
9. At the end of each round, check totals on the tabulation sheet for accuracy for each contestant.
10. Print out tabulation sheets after each round. Provide the printed tabulation sheets and the ballots or summary ballots to the person in charge for additional check and review.
11. Identify finalists by selecting entries with the lowest cumulative ranking totals. The number of finalists is determined by using the ratios below. For the District Tournaments only, all entries that have previously qualified for the State Forensic Championship shall be dropped before determining the finalists. Such previously qualified entries shall count for the ratios below, but they shall not actually participate in the final rounds of the District Tournaments. (Amended: December, 2008)
12. After identifying finalists, arrange contestants in appropriate speaker order. As much as possible, attempt to place contestants in speaker positions in which they did not speak in preliminary rounds, and attempt to separate contestants from the same school. If contestants are finalists in multiple categories, coordinate speaker order with tabulators of the other events. In general, finalists should speak earlier in the round for national events, giving preference among national events to Duo Interpretation and Extemporaneous Speaking.
13. Prepare carbon forms to send to the Judges Official. Include room number, speaker codes (including school codes), and number of judges on the carbon forms. If appropriate, designate multiple-entered contestants with an asterisk.
14. Prepare posting sheets. Include room number, speaker codes (excluding school codes) in speaker order, and number of judges. For Impromptu Speaking and Extemporaneous Speaking, include the time of the draw. If appropriate, designate multiple-entered contestants with an asterisk.
15. Have another tabulating team double check tab sheets, carbon forms, and posting sheets.
16. Send two copies of the carbon forms to the Judges Official for assignment of judges. The Judges Official returns to the tabulation room one copy of the carbon form listing the names of the judges assigned to judge the events. For Impromptu Speaking and Extemporaneous Speaking, send the third copy of the carbon forms to the Prep Room Official.
17. Double check tab sheet finalists with posting sheet to make sure that the correct contestants have been posted.
18. Post for final round.

DURING FINAL ROUND

19. Prepare award certificates for all final round competitors. Collate certificates by event, rather than by school.
20. Staple preliminary round ballots together. Withhold ballots of contestants in the final round. Place all other collated ballots into the school envelopes.
21. Work with students of the host school to coordinate the awards ceremony. Ask the students to set up the trophies, provide them with the collated awards certificates, and explain the procedure for announcing finalists, state-qualified entries, and pre-qualified entries, if any. For the State Forensic Championship, awards will be presented at the formal awards banquet, usually scheduled at a hotel ballroom. (Amended: December, 2008)

AFTER FINAL ROUND

22. Tabulate all results, using steps 3, 5, 6 and 7 above. Also tabulate sweepstakes points earned by all finalists, using the sweepstakes point table below, if applicable.
23. After determining winners, read sweepstakes points to the person in charge, who shall prepare a sweepstakes tally sheet. No school sweepstakes winners shall be awarded at the District Tournaments. (Amended: December, 2008)
24. Collate all final round ballots, staple them together with all preliminary round ballots, and place them into the school envelopes.
25. Finalize the tabulation sheets, including the sweepstakes tally. Collate them in the following order: sweepstakes tally, Storytelling, Program Reading, Humorous Interpretation, Dramatic Interpretation, Duo Interpretation, Original Oratory, Impromptu Speaking, United States Extemporaneous Speaking, and International Extemporaneous Speaking.
26. Duplicate and staple the tabulations sheets and place them into the school envelopes.

Debate Qualifying Tournaments and the State Forensic Championship

(Amended: December, 2008)

1. The person in charge will designate several teams comprised of at least two tabulators assigned to specific event(s). At least one of the tabulators should be experienced in tabulating debate tournaments.
2. Check ballots for the following
 - a. In Policy Debates: win/loss (only one winner and one loser); speaker rankings (only one 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th); and team ratings (superior, excellent, good or fair). Ratings may be the same for both entries.
 - b. In Lincoln-Douglas Debates: win/loss (only one winner and one loser); and speaker ratings (only one number circled). Speaker ratings may be the same for both entries.
 - c. In Public Forum Debates: win/loss (only one winner and one loser); and team ratings (only one number circled). Team ratings may be the same for both entries.

If the ballots show some inconsistency (e.g., a "low point win"), check the reason for decision. If there is any doubt, return the ballot to the Judges Official for clarification from the judge. Ideally, a "low point win" should be noted on the ballot.
3. Read the results from the ballots to the tabulation partner, who shall enter all results, ratings, and rankings into a computerized tabulation sheet.
4. Switch with tabulation partner to double-check entry of results into the computerized tabulation sheet.
5. At the end of each round, check totals on the tabulation sheet for accuracy for each entry.
6. Separate ballots – white copy to the winning entry, yellow copy to the losing entry, and pink copy held for the Judges Official. Collate each entry's preliminary round ballots by code number and round, staple the ballots together, and write the school code number on the first ballot.
7. Print out tabulation sheets after each round. Provide the ballots and printed tabulation sheets to the person in charge for additional check and review.
8. After the preliminary rounds, identify entries into the out round(s), except that, in the case of District Tournaments, there shall be no out rounds and entries qualifying for the State Forensic Championship shall be determined after the preliminary rounds. See the procedures set forth in Paragraph E.3. of Section II (Tournaments (State Qualifying)). (Amended: December, 2008)
9. For State Qualifying Tournaments (other than the District Tournaments), schedule one final round per event by the "power match" method (i.e., 1st versus 2nd, 3rd versus 4th, etc.) as explained by Paragraph E.3. of Section II (Tournaments (State Qualifying)), even if entries from the same school are paired against each other or if entries had previously met in a preliminary round. For the State Forensic Championship, schedule out rounds by the "power protection" method (i.e., 1st versus 8th, 2nd versus 7th, etc.), even if entries from the same school are paired against each other or if entries had previously met in a preliminary round. The number of out rounds shall be determined by the quota set forth at the end of this section on State Qualifying Tournaments and the State Forensic Championship. (Amended: December, 2008)

10. Prepare carbon forms to send to the Judges Official. Include room number, entry codes (including school codes), and number of judges on the carbon forms.
11. Prepare posting sheets. Include room number, entry codes (excluding school codes), and number of judges. In out rounds, entries must flip to determine sides. The notation "flip for sides" should also be placed on the posting sheets.
12. Have another tabulating team double check tab sheets, carbon forms, and posting sheets.
13. Send both copies of the carbon forms to the Judges Official for assignment of judges. The Judges Official returns to the tabulation room one copy of the carbon form listing the names of the judges assigned to judge the events.

15. Post for out rounds.

FORENSIC ETHICS

Interscholastic contests in speech are organized and conducted for the purpose of developing competence in speech. These contests, properly conceived, are definitely pedagogical in their aims and objectives and should be viewed as educational projects. As such, they are designed to capitalize upon a very natural and a very desirable rivalry between schools and between individuals. The desire to win supplies a strong incentive to application and achievement and is wholly commendable in the degree that winning is correlated with performance of merit. All the rules and regulations governing contests are designed to make the winning of contests synonymous with good speaking and good debating. While this objective has been largely realized, it sometimes happens that, under stress of a desire to win, individuals become overzealous and do things that reflect on the good standing of the school they represent. Every possible effort should be made to preserve friendly relations and to conduct all contests on the highest possible ethical plane. To this end the following suggestions are offered:

1. A speech contest is a friendly contest, not a war between enemies. Be absolutely fair and sportsmanlike. The highest kind of school loyalty is that which reflects credit on the school, not that which tries to secure a victory at any cost. Win, if possible, by merit; but win or lose, let it be said that your audience and participation was courteous, sportsmanlike and hospitable. A good name is rather to be chosen than many victories.
2. Make every effort to secure fair and impartial judges. If a contest cannot be won by performance of merit, it is better to lose it.
3. Never allow anyone, speaker, coach or friend to quarrel with judges after the decision. The real test of adulthood comes in defeat. Learn to lose gracefully. Talk with the judges, get their criticism, learn all you can from them, but NEVER, under any circumstances, question their honesty. They have given of their time to help you. Reward them by accepting the result of their judgment even though you may think it mistaken. Remember that anyone can win gracefully, but it takes moral control and real manhood and womanhood to accept defeat. (Refer to #8, Judging)
4. If two other schools are having a debate, and your school is to debate one of them at a later date, do not send a representative to take notes on the case for use in your debate later. This is taking an unfair advantage and often leads to bitter feelings. In tournaments, no representative from one school should listen to a debate of another if these two schools may meet later in the tournament. The learning values of debate must not be subverted by the fear of a debater that his case will be recorded and dissected by others.
5. Arrange all details of the contest in plenty of time so that there will be no delays or misunderstandings at the time of the contest. When unavoidable difficulties arise at the last moment, such as the absence of judges, etc., get together and try to adjust matters with utmost fairness, so that there will be no unfair advantages to any team or person.
6. Keep all letters received on file, and preserve carbons of all letters written. Have all correspondence present at the contest, so that, should a dispute arise, the facts may be known. Care in correspondence often prevents misunderstanding.
7. Contestants, coaches and judges are urged to report promptly to the tournament officials any serious irregularity. Correction will be made if possible and steps taken to prevent recurrence. Don't complain after the tournament is over; complain while it is in progress and something can be done about it.

8. Judging: Judges should not stop debates. Judges should not render critiques until the final speech has been delivered. Coaches and judges should not discuss the results with the contestants or the coaches until after the tournament. All judges' decisions are final. Grievances are to be sent in writing to the Hawai'i Speech League's Executive Council, in care of the Tournament Director. Tournament officials should not disclose information concerning scheduling, judges and decisions.
